Peculiar to Summer, Pe-ru-na Gives Prompt and Permanent Relief.

Clem G. Moore. Editor of the Advocate-Democrat of Crawfordsville, Ga., writes the runa Medicine Company as follows:

Gentlemen-"After four years of intense suffering, caused by systemic catarrh, which I contracted while editing and traveling for my paper, I have been greatly relieved by the use of Peruna. I gave up work during these years of terture, tried various remedies and many dectors, but all the permanent relief came from the use of Peruna. My trouble was called ludigestion, but it was catarrh all through my system, and a few bottles of Peruna made me feel like another person, noting the improvement after I had used the first bottle. Peruna is undoubtedly the best catarrh remedy ever compounded."-Clem G. Moore.

Captain Percy W. Moss, Paragould, Ark., says: "I think Peruna is undoubtedly the finest and surest catarrh cure ever prepared, and it has taken but two bottles to convince me of this fact."

Judge Wm. T. Zenor of Washington, D. C., writes from 213 N. Capital street, Washington, D. C.:

GOT OUT.

The Food Cure Brought Her Out With Flying Colors.

A lady in Laurence, Ind., Mrs. M. C. Waring, was a poor judge of food and also a worker in literary and educational lines, where she exhausted her vitality because of the bad combination of a load of work and poorly selected food to rebuild her. She was using hot cakes for breakfast, meat, coffee, etc., and gradually lost ground until she became a total wreck. She says: "I was so reduced that the slightest noise brought a cold perspiration all over me. Sleep was out of the question and my appetite was gone. I was apprehensive of all sorts of disaster. I became really very ill. I was on the verge of losing my mind, when one day a friend who sat at my bedside remarked that she would bring me something nice to eat.

"Sure enough, when she came over she had a dainty luncheon on a tray with pretty decorated china dishes, etc. A cup held some coffee, as I supposed, and a dish held some coffee, as I supposed, and a dish held some that was Grape-Nuts Food, whereas the liquid was Postum Coffee.

"I liked the taste of the Grape-Nuts with a little cream and ate all of it. After some persuasion I drank the Postum Coffee and that night was the most peaceful night I had enjoyed in months, and when I awakened in the morning I found the Grape-Nuts package on the table near my bed, and I had some for breakfast with some Postum Coffee.

"I at once began to feel better and discontinuation."

I had some for breakfast with some Postum Coffee.

"I at once began to feel better and discarded all kinds of medicine, stimulants, narcodes, and used only Grape-Nuts four times a day with Postum Coffee. At the end of thirty days I left my bed, and after three months' building up on Grape-Nuts Food and the famous Postum, I have taken up my literary work, working harder than ever, making up for lost time.

"Mental strains have no more terrors for me. I keep my mental faculties clear. All my inper organs have become clear and healthy, so I never know I have any, yet I work and study sixteen hours out of the twenty-four on an average. I often wonder what has become of those dreadful nerves. Things that formerly disturbed me now seem triffes.

"A healthy body is a happy body so I so."

Things that formerly disturbed me now seem trifies.

"A healthy body is a happy body, so I go about singing and happy, come sunshine or rain. Grape-Nuts and Postum lifted me out of a sick bed, and Grape-Nuts Food has since brought my little daughter through a severe case of scarlet fever. Grape-Nuts was the only food she could take, and the doctor said she would have died had it not been for the nourishment given her by Grape-Nuts Food. Do you wonder we believe in the famous food?"

There is a reason why the Postum Coffee and Grape-Nuts are towers of strength in times of trouble. Any one can learn the fact and the reason if they care to make searching inquiry. The company furnish the details, but it is sufficient to most people to know that whereas they have been poorly treated, sed perhaps wrecked with disease from improper food, the change to Grape-Nuts and Postum has made them people to know that whereas they have been poorly treated, sed perhaps wrecked with disease from improper food, the change to Grape-Nuts and Postum has made them upon this morning to decide the punishment for filegal voting under the Neshit law. A week ago Saturday Judges Ferriss and Wood of the criminal bench, sitting in banc, upheld the Neshit law, but rendered no opinion concerning the penalty clause, which places the minimum punishment at two years in the penitentiary. When the clause does not state the maximum, a general State law provides that it shall be life imprisonment. The old Filley law, which is operative in Kansas City, and was formerly the election law of St. Louis, fixes the maximum for illegal voting at five years in the Penitentiary. If the Neshit law repeals the Filley law then the maximum, it is argued, would be life imprisonment; but if they are to be construed together the maximum of the Filley law may be held good. Still others argue that the court will be obliged to set the punishment at the minimum of two years. The point of punishment will be raised when Michael McNamara and James Nolan, charged with illegal voting, are called for trial this morning. It must be settled before a jury is selected. If the life penalty is decided upon the defendant is entitled to twelve challenges and twenty-four hours in which to make them. Otherwise, he has only six challenges. NOT ENTITLED TO VOTE.

Judge Rules on Point in Contested Election Case.

Lebanon, Ill., June 3.-Judge Perrin of the County Court of St. Clair County has filed a decision in the contested election case of Ed C. Mueller vs. Fred Pesold for the city treasurership of Lebanon, in favor of the latter, and in so doing has made a new and interesting ruling in Illinois election law. Plaintiff and defendant were opposing candidates for City Treasurer of Lebanon at the last municipal election. The returns indicated Pesold's election by a plurality of two votes. Mueller then contested the election in the County Court, claiming a number of sindents of McKendree College, whose real homes were elsewhere, had voted for Pesold, who is professor of music in the college, and that they had no right to vote. The Court, in the decision filed, holds that the students had no right to vote. He said the point is unsettled in Illinois, but the soundest principle is that they have no right to vote at the seat of their institution unless their permanent homes be there. The Court held, however, that Mueller had not shown for whom the students voted, and for that reason decided in favor of Pesold. Ed C. Mueller vs. Fred Pesold for the city

The banker explained why this was, pointing to the various numbers on the table to prove what he claimed. The man appeared to understand and put up his money. When the pegs went down and were added up a number resulted which was not on the board at all. The banker was equal to the occasion, though, and palled up a section of the oldeton, which was langing over the far side of the table. On this was marked in yellow the number $\frac{2}{2}\text{, which was the same as the pegs had figured up. This was marked with two stars and was in favor of the banker. Attorney General Knox is preparing an opinion as to the adequacy of the Spooner amendment. It is expected that the opinion will be ready tomorrow and that the question of calling an extra session then will be decided.

Senator Spooner's View.

Senator Spooner's View. Senator Spooner's View.

Senator Spooner, the author of the amendment, has expressed the opinion that the amendment did not give the President authority to levy customs duties on goods entering the United States when viewed in the light of the Supreme Court's recent decision. At the time it was drawn it was considered sufficient, and its framers did not look for any court decision that would question its power.

any court decision that the administration power.

There is no doubt that the administration and most of the Republican members of Congress desire to avoid an extra session if possible. But above this wish the President desires to hasten the establishment of civil government in the Philippines. If the tariff situation is to conflict with this purpose there is little doubt he would call Congress together for action.
